SCU Publications Collection and ePublications@SCU

ePublications@SCU (http://epubs.scu.edu.au) is an electronic open access repository administered by SCU Library. All publications submitted to the DoR via SCU Publications Collection forms will be automatically provided to ePublications@SCU. Inclusion in the repository will facilitate exposure to research outputs via search engines such as Google Scholar. This in turn has the potential to increase the impact of publications and to improve citation rates. Citation data will be included in the repository and subject to copyright conditions and publisher agreements the full text of each publication will also be included.

If you DO NOT wish your publication to be included in ePublications@SCU, please tick this box ☐

Only ONE application is required in respect of each work, preferably submitted by the principle author, whether a single author is involved or more than one, and whether one School/Research Centre is involved or more than one. All authors who are eligible will receive the recognition automatically. Please ensure you attach all supporting documentation to this submission.

Checklist
1. Complete proforma
