

Competition for Peace

Competitions are currently underway for our local year 10 through 12 students to focus their pens or paints on interpreting the theme of human rights and peace.

The Centre for Peace and Social Justice (SCU) International Human Rights conference in Byron Bay (July 1-4) presents a timely opportunity to involve our local youth in thinking about the topics of human rights and peace.

One competition is for writing an essay; the other is for creating an art poster. Entries close in early May, and the first prize for both categories should have students scrambling for those pens and paints!

Local high schools have been provided with competition information packages. For further information, interested students should contact their Heads of School or English or Art department teachers.

Prize winners in both competitions will receive the following:

1st Prize

- 'Splendour in the Grass' concert ticket - admission for the full two day concert

2nd Prize

- ½ day ocean kayaking experience, Byron Bay

3rd Prize

- Gift Voucher for $50 from All Music and Vision
