

Google Scholar Preferences

Setting your 'Google Scholar preferences' allows you link to fulltext articles that we have available via the SCU Library, as well as importing any records of interest to Endnote.

HINT: Sign into your Google account (gmail or google+ account) before setting these preferences, & again before you do any scholar searching.

At Google Scholar <http://scholar.google.com.au/> click on the Settings link (top RH corner of screen).

The main fields to change are Collections, Bibliography Manager and Library

Select the 'collections' you wish to search. I am only interested in searching articles on GS.

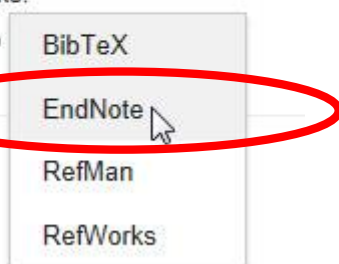

Collections

- Search articles (include patents).
- Search legal documents.

Under Bibliography Manager select Endnote, from the drop down box.

Bibliography manager

- Don't show any citation import links.
- Show links to import citations into

The most important thing to check is the Library Links.

In the LH column, click on Library links.

In the search box type Southern Cross University, then click on Find Library

Show library access links for (choose up to five libraries):

Southern Cross University

e.g., Harvard

- SOUTHERN CROSS UNIVERSITY - ProQuest Fulltext
- Southern Cross Univ - EBSCOhost Full Text
- National Library of Australia - Libraries Australia

(Although there are 2 links already displaying for SCU (below the search box) these are NOT the correct links.

The screen will refresh, and SCU – Find it @ SCU will appear below the search box. Tick the box next to SCU – Find it @ SCU.

Show library access links for (choose up to five libraries):

Southern Cross University

e.g., Harvard

- SOUTHERN CROSS UNIVERSITY - ProQuest Fulltext
- Southern Cross Univ - EBSCOhost Full Text
- National Library of Australia - Libraries Australia
- Southern Cross University - Find it @ SCU

Make sure that you click on Save.

When you do your next search in Google Scholar, there will be links to the SCU fulltext (Find it @ SCU) and to the Endnote import option.
